Featured Saints of the Week

St. Thomas of Villanova (1488-1555)

Feast Day: September 22

Thomas was born in Castile, Spain; his father was a miller. Both of his parents regularly distributed food and provisions to the poor, so Thomas from an early age was ingrained with this same need to service the poor.

Thomas earned a degree in Theology, becoming a professor at age 26. He was offered the Chair of the Philosophy department at the University of Salamanca. He declined the offer opting instead to enter the Order of St. Augustine at Salamanca. He was ordained a priest in 1518, and soon became known for his eloquent and effective preaching.

Holy Roman Emperor Charles V named Thomas as one of his councilors of state, and preacher of the residence of the Emperor, when his travels brought him to the area. He offered Thomas the post of Archbishop of Granada, which he declined; then it was as Archbishop of Valencia. This too he declined, but his superior stepped in and ordered Thomas to take the position in Valencia. His scathing attacks on his fellow bishops earned him the title of reformer. His sermons ranged from his love and devotion to the Virgin Mary to the cruelty of bullfighting. He compared Mary's heart to the burning bush of Moses that is never consumed.

The "father of the poor" continued his work throughout his Archdiocese and began working to bring some order to it because it was in need of a direct pastoral government.

St. Thomas died in Valencia on September 8, 1555 at the age of 67 from a heart attack.

"Charity is not just giving, rather the removing the need of those who received charity and liberating them from it when possible." - St. Thomas of Villanova
